IN U. S. ARMY CAMPS

H. MONTAGUE PORTER TELLS OF LIFE AT CAMP GREENE, N. C.

We are indebted to Miss Calla Porter, 821 W. 5th street, for the following letter from her brother, H. Montague Porter, regarding a visit to Camp Green in North Carolina. Mr. Porter's duties take him to widely separated points of the country. He has visited a number of the army camps, and his observations are of great interest.

"Last week I was at Charlotte, which is one of the larger places in North Carolina. Near there is an army camp, Camp Greene. As I had seen the camps at Battle Creek and Petersburg, I thought I would also visit this camp. And the weather being more agreeable, I took more time and saw much more of the real camp life than before.

"While all are essentially training camps, yet their character is somewhat different. Camp Greene is sort of a relay camp. After the boys have received preliminary training in other camps, generally from further north, they come here, and in a way are sorted. Some are put into one regiment of the national army adn some into another to fill up the regiments to full war strength. It is possible that boys from one state may be put into half a dozen different regiments of the national army. There were also boys here who had enlisted in the regular army.

"Regiments of the regular army are, or rather have been, skeleton in nature. By that is meant below full war strength in numbers.

"All drafted men become part of the national army, while enlisted men may be either of the regular army or the national guards. So the regular army regiments are being filled up with men new to army life, as well as the national army being made up entirely of men new to army life. This is practically true of officers of various grades as well as privates.

"Did not learn how much land the Camp occupies, but am safe in saying a thousand acres, and maybe more. I could not see nearly all at once. Splendid water was one of the inducements for this location. A thoughtful person will inquire, 'What has become of the farmers?' I am reliably informed that the Government rented such land as they needed at a price about 75 per cent in advance of its yearly value of crops, the time of the lease being five years or until two years after the war, at the option of the Government.

"As a whole, it is divided into what are for convenience termed Camp One, Two, Three and Four. Camps One and Four are reached by electric lines from Charlotte for a 5-cent fare, and about twenty minutes time. Through each camp is a wide main street. On one side of it are tents for the higher officers, by which I mean captains and lieutenants. Officers of lower rank are with the privates.

"On the other side of the street are the mess-houses, that is where cooking and eating are the regular business.

"These were fully 200 feet long. The end of these buildings is facing the street, and in line with them to the rear are the tents of the boys, extending an eighth of a mile or more. This arrangement is duplicated over and over again a great many times, for as one looks over the camp he sees acres and acres and more acres of these tents.

"Along each line of tents are electric wires for lighting purposes. You know the appearance of the tents, with the board floors and board frame built up waist high, over which is the square tent with the pyramid top.

"Each tent accommodates eight men, folding canvas cots being placed around the edges. Each has a trunk of strong vulcanized fiber, and in size about like our Ceylon sheet-iron steamer trunk. They just fit the space under the cots, either by accident or otherwise. The trays to these are divided into six compartments. The why of this I do not understand for a man. If not for a man, it would be self-evident.

"Next to center-pole, and in front of it, is the heavy sheet-iron stove, in shape like an inverted funnel. I asked several of the boys if they had been uncomfortably cold, and without exception, they said they were plenty warm. And apparently there was no attempt at suppressing actual conditions.

"The day of my visit was one of the first really spring days. Bright and calm, with temperature about 60 degrees. The larger portion of the tents were down, by which I mean the canvas had been detached from the wooden frame, and hung

LOCAL REPRESENTATIVE

INCREASED ACTIVITY OF GERMAN AGENTS MAKES HASTE NECESSARY IN CRUSHING IT

The American Defense Society, in widening the scope of its activities through the nation has appointed Mrs. Ella Richardson as a member of the Woman's National Committee, to represent this district.

In speaking of the society's aims and the contemplated campaign in this city, Mrs. Richardson in her first communication as the society's representative, brings home with decided force the need for immediate action.

"German agents in our midst are not a figment of the imagination but a very real danger," states Mrs. Richardson.

"In this war, if you cannot go to the front you will want to serve at home, especially now that our own losses are beginning to be felt, and we are at last actually realizing the war. Germany is mobilized to the last man and woman, and if America is to win this war, we must also mobilize those at home—every man and woman. Service at home does not necessarily mean that you must give up your family obligations or the time necessary for earning your livelihood. Such service can and should be given in your spare time.

"The first thing you can do is to concern yourself with the desperate activities of the German Empire in this country. Some of these activities are political; others are industrial—attempts at dynamiting our war plants and burning buildings. Still others are in the realm of propaganda—spreading propaganda under the guise of peace talk.

"If you are an American citizen, if you believe in the ideal of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness for which our forefathers gave their lives in the Revolution, you can aid American patriotism by enrolling at once in an organization like the American Defense Society.

"The American Defense Society is a national propaganda society, recently characterized by the New York Sun as 'the most outspoken opponent of German propaganda in this country.' It is engaged in waging relentless warfare against enemy activities at home.

"We propose to hold a series of meetings to gain members, in the near future, and among other things we hope to bring to this city the greatest patriotic photoplay which has ever been produced, as a means of adding to the national fund for the prosecution of enemy activities, and the spreading of a pro-American propaganda.

Some of the prominent women with whom Mrs. Richardson will be associated in her new work are Mrs. J. W. Harriman, Mrs. N. L. Beekman, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., Mrs. Robert Lansing, Mrs. Charles S. Whitman, and other members of the Woman's National Committee, which has been appointed to assist the American Defense Society in the important work which it is doing.

DEATH OF OTTO P. SNYDER

In the gray, early hours of Friday morning, Otto P. Snyder of 210 South Brand boulevard, in the Tropico District, passed to the Great Beyond after an illness which has lasted several months. He leaves a wife, Mrs. Cora D. Snyder, who is almost prostrated by her grief and her vigils at his bedside, and a son, P. O. Snyder of Eulalia street, this city.

Otto Snyder came to this community fifteen to eighteen years ago and witnessed its entire development as a city. He was intensely public spirited and an active promoter of every project which he was convinced would be for civic betterment. He had much to do with the entrance of the Pacific Electric into this part of the valley, and in many ways displayed his good citizenship.

He was also an enthusiastic worker in the Elks and in the Knights of Pythias Lodges, in which he held all the prominent offices, being a Past Exalted Ruler of the Order of Elks, which will have entire charge of his funeral, to be held this afternoon at the Jewel City Undertaking parlors, Third and Brand boulevard, at three o'clock, interment being made at Forest Lawn Memorial Park. For many years he has been Deputy County Assessor and he leaves a wide circle of friends throughout the county by whom he was highly esteemed and who will sincerely mourn his loss.

Every citizen of the United States has the right to express his views on public questions, providing he does so in a courteous and honest manner.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

PETROGRAD, March 16.—President Wilson's message of sympathy to the Russian people was read at the Pan-Soviet Congress at Moscow amid a silence interrupted by murmurs regarding the Japanese situation. The Congress adopted a resolution in which the Soviet expressed to the American people, especially the toilers who are being exploited, its appreciation of their sympathy at a time when the Russian Socialist's Republic is experiencing its greatest hardships.

The resolution also voiced the confidence of the Congress that the time is not far distant when the masses will overthrow Capitalism and establish Socialism, which alone is capable of giving a just peace and assuring the welfare of toilers.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, March 16.—A forceful war message to the world is expected from President Wilson soon. It has been officially intimated that the President is determined to end all silence regarding America's position toward the proposed invasion of Siberia by Japan. At the same time it is plainly intimated that all talk of peace has become idle since Germany's activities in the near East, i. e., its ruthless invasion of Russia.

GLEN EYRIE AND EAGLE ROCK CHAPTERS O. E. S. ENTERTAIN GRAND OFFICERS

Thursday evening Glen Eyrie Chapter No. 237 and Eagle Rock Chapter No. 313 entertained the Grand Officers with a 6:00 o'clock dinner given at the Gates Hotel, Los Angeles. Covers were laid for thirty guests, which included the present Grand Officers and their escorts, a few officers and members of both chapters. The tables were very beautiful with the profusion of delicate pale pink carnations and dainty place cards. It was indeed a merry party which enjoyed the dinner, after which all motored to Glen Eyrie's Chapter Room for the exemplification of the work.

The opening, balloting and closing ceremonies were performed by Glen Eyrie Chapter, the degree work being conferred by Eagle Rock.

Present Grand Officers were Sister Ivy Crane Shelhamer, Worthy Grand Matron; Brother Robert Edgar, Worthy Grand Patron; Frank Foye, Grand Associate Patron; Mary E. Finley, Grand Associate Matron; Mabel Gwin, Grand Associate Conductress; Ella Wood, Grand Chaplain, Sabina Reynolds, Grand Electa; Rachel Barkhurst, District Deputy Grand Matron, of Eagle Rock, and Emma Cota, Glen Eyrie's District Deputy Grand Matron. Past Grand Officers present were Sister Minnie Fuller, Past Grand Matron of New Mexico; Brother Frank W. Holman, Past Grand Patron; Harry V. Brown, Past Grand Associate Patron of California; Brother Elkhorn, Past Grand Treasurer of Colorado; Mrs. Virginia Coates, Past Grand Associate Matron of California; and Brother Elsinson, Past Grand Patron of the state of Washington.

Fourteen present Matrons and Patrons of the following Chapters were also given a most hearty welcome: Acacia, Eastgate, Hollywood, Los Angeles, Pacific, Palestine, Southgate, Van Nuys and Westlake.

At the close of the exemplification of the work, Glen Eyrie and Eagle Rock Chapters presented the Worthy Grand Matron and the Worthy Grand Patrons with beautiful gifts which were accepted and appreciated by the recipients.

Amid great applause, a most beautiful silk flag, the emblem of our nation, was escorted into the Chapter room. Miss Cora Hickman, in her most gracious and pleasing way, gave the presentation speech on behalf of Sister Lilian Beamon, Junior Past Matron, and Alexander Beamon, Past Patron, who have presented this beautiful gift to Glen Eyrie Chapter. We regret that through illness Sister and Brother Beamon were unable to attend the meeting and to accept the thanks expressed on behalf of the members of this Chapter for the beautiful flag.

SCHOOL OF METHODS A SUCCESS

Several people of Glendale availed themselves of the School of Methods for Sunday School workers which closed last night at the First Christian church in Los Angeles. Rev. Clifford A. Cole of the Glendale Christian Church was one of the instructors, teaching two classes each night, and delivered one of the main lectures on "Training for Leadership." One hundred sixty-nine Sunday School workers were enrolled, eight being from here. The day of untrained teachers and workers in the Sunday School is fast disappearing. The old conundrum, "When is a school not a school? When it's a Sunday School," is no longer being flung at teachers of the Word of God.

MISSIONARY SOCIAL

Interesting and profitable was the meeting of the Young Woman's Missionary Society of the Glendale Presbyterian Church held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Reid Fulkman, 909 Chestnut street. It opened with a business session followed by a devotional service led by the pastor, Rev W. E. Edmonds. The motto which he suggested for the coming year was: "We consecrate our hearts, our heads, our hands, our health, to Christian service." He followed his appeal for service with a fervent prayer.

Mrs. Cameron Johnson, who lived for twelve years in Japan and who is well qualified to describe it, led the company in a tour of that flowery land which was much enjoyed. Miss Emma Wooldridge contributed a solo and Miss Mildred McKee, readings. The balance of the evening was given to social chat and games. The newly elected officers were on duty and it was one of the pleasantest gatherings the organization has ever enjoyed. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

A BIG SUCCESS

JUNIOR RED CROSS BENEFIT FOR CERRITOS SCHOOL WINS FAME AND MONEY

The unanimous verdict of the audience which crowded the Yeomen Hall on San Fernando boulevard Thursday evening to enjoy the benefit for the Junior Red Cross Auxiliary of the Cerritos school, was "We never had a better entertainment of its kind." This appreciation was most gratifying to Mrs. Eustace B. Moore, Chairman of the Committee of Arrangements, and her co-workers, to the teachers who entered into the effort with enthusiasm, and to the boys and girls who gave the numbers or who got busy and sold tickets.

The entertainment opened with a salute to the flag led by Walter Sullivan, a Boy Scout, and the audience remained standing while it sang the first and last verses of "America."

Then there were pretty songs by the always charming little Kindergarten pupils, and a really fine recitation by Ruth Goto, a little girl of Japan, entitled "The Liberty Bell."

Little Elizabeth Turner was quite bewitching in a song and dance, and the children of the First and Second Grades sang "The Gingerbread Man" to everybody's satisfaction.

There was a piano duet by Mida Butler and Gladys Martin which was pleasing, and a fancy dance in costume by Dorothy Dutton, which won the customary applause, as she is a charming little artist. Then the Third and Fourth Grades gave some excellent songs.

A sword dance by little Divina Wood in Scotch costume made a great hit.

Songs by Miss Ruth Morgan, teacher of the Third Grade and instructor in music, were greatly enjoyed. Then Dorothy Dutton gave an extra dance and there was a much appreciated violin solo by Herbert Bruck.

A pretty number was the song, "Uncle Sammy Is Calling," the solo part being carried by Mabel Todd, the girls of the Fourth Grade taking up the chorus.

Benton Moore sang of the chopping of the George Washington tree to the tune of Yankee Doodle, and Doris Cook gave her beautiful "Snow Dance."

"Over There" was sung in solo by Willard Fleming with a chorus by children in the costumes of the Allies, which made a pleasing spectacle. Then there was a nice piano solo by Ruth Hopkins and songs were sung by the Eighth Grade that were tuneful and spirited.

Marguerite Brown contributed a most interesting Russian dance and there were more good songs by the Fifth and Sixth Grades.

Ruth Goldsborough gave in a very satisfactory recitation, "The Meaning of the U. S. A.," and there was another fine song by the Sixth Grade.

Boy Scouts secured great applause with their fife and drum music and the program closed with a patriotic tableau to the accompaniment of "Star-Spangled Banner," Florence Melrose impersonating Uncle Sam and Elizabeth Goodrich Miss Columbia.

Everybody worked for the success of the entertainment and the committee is especially appreciative of the work of Miss Morgan and the teachers who assisted her in training the children for their songs. It is estimated that the net receipts will be $45, which with the amount already in the treasury, will give the Cerritos Auxiliary a working capital of over $100.

ANOTHER SMALL CALL

Adjutant General Borree of Sacramento has notified the local Board of Exemption that it must send forward to American Lake on March 29th or during the five days following, eleven men. The Board is now selecting eleven eligibles, and to make sure that men will be taken in their turn it will stop all special inductions of registrants who have order numbers under 600 until this call is filled. Cards were sent out Friday notifying men of their selection and instructing them to hold themselves in readiness and subject to the command of the Board.

The Board will necessarily have to notify more than eleven men to make sure of being able to fill its quota with men physically fit.

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, MARCH 16, 1918

AUTOISTS WARNED AGAINST PATENT MEDICINE FOR SICK GASOLINE

Noxious nostrums calculated to put the kick of a mule in a drop of gas, but which are about as efficient in that line as a dash of soothing syrup, are about to "get theirs" if the Automobile Club of Southern California and the City Oil Inspector's Office of Los Angeles have any influence in Southern California.

That is, those alluring little bottles and tablets labelled "Helpful Pep for Tired Gasoline" or "Mule-hoof Ointment" for which many thoughtless motorists fall, believing that a miracle will come to pass and Lizzie will climb a church steeple like Doug Fairbanks with only a drop or two in the gas tank, are going to get dusty on on the shelves unless expert tests prove that they really have the goods.

A general warning was issued yesterday by the automobile club officials through Secretary S. L. Mitchell to the motoring public to beware of buying any so-called patent medicine for sick gasoline unless said patent medicine has the official stamp of approval. This warning was issued upon the advice of the City Oil Inspector, Charles A. Blackmar, of Los Angeles, who has been conducting an extensive investigation of the flood of patent alleged gas-efficiency-increasers appearing almost daily on the markets.

This matter of bunking the motoring public by means of pink juice in fancy bottles, and brick dust in horse-medicine tablets came to a head yesterday when Inspector Blackmar unbuttoned the information that a large patent gas-medicine firm with headquarters in the South was illegally claiming in southern California that the United States Government had officially endorsed their concoction.

Letters were produced in the conference with the Automobile Club officials from General George Goethals, Acting Quartermaster General at Washington, from the State Inspector of Oils in Colorado and from the chief petroleum technologist of the Government Bureau of Mines, stating that as far as the Government could discover, and so far as the other departments could discover, the product offered from those headquarters in the South was a good combustion lubricant and nothing more, and at two dollars a bottle pretty expensive lubrication.

In fact, the State of Colorado officially declared it to be worthless, and so stated in a letter to Inspector Blackmar, and there was no Government sanction given it, according to the highest authority.

However, it is possible to give gasoline more kick than it naturally has, but the process is so expensive that it isn't worth the candle. Picric acid is the little agent that will do the work, but by the time a motorist buys enough picric acid to get any results he is bankrupt, and so he decides to revert to the maintenance of the Rockefeller foundation.

There is a bottle of a pink liquid which looks and smells like a very inferior hair tonic, but which was fondly announced by its papa to be good for everything that ailed poor old Mr. Gasoline. That juice didn't last very long after the oil inspecting department got after it. In it was found camphor, kerosene and cochineal.

Brief was the life of some interesting-looking lavendar crystals in a tube, also pronounced good for gasoline ailments. Upon analyzing, it was found to be composed of mashed camphor balls of the common or mothy variety, and some vegetable coloring matter of doubtful vintage. Perhaps the pulverized brick dust in capsules took the cooky as a real bunkerine.

Accompanying these nostrums are the instructions for "taking" and these usually state that the owner must cut down the mixture to make it lean, and to adjust the carburetor so that the engine gets the maximum of efficiency from the gasoline. According to the authorities, if the average motorist would take care of his motor and keep his carburetor properly adjusted anyway, he would never need to think of, or get mixed up with, any patent gas-medicines.

STREET MARKING

Editor News:

In all the recent discussion of street naming and house numbering there is one very important matter that has not been touched upon. That is, street marking. The system now prevailing in Glendale and all other municipalities that I have noted seems to presuppose that all travel on the streets is in one direction. If one is unfortunate enough to be traveling in the opposite diretcion he must go beyond the sign post to see "where he is at." To my notion every street corner should be double marked—the sign posts being placed on the northeast and southwest corners, so that the street names would be easily discernible no matter in what direction the traveler is going. Another point: suppose a stranger is hunting a certain number and knows nothing of our system of numbering, our base lines and street directions. He may find the street he wants, but miss the number desired by many hundreds. Suppose that in addition to the street name on the sign board, the number also be placed. To illustrate: Suppose, merely for an example, that the present base lines and system of numbering are retained. Then at Central and Colorado the post at the northeast corner would have on the board pointing east, 1399 W. Colorado St., and on the one pointing north, 600 S. Central Ave. The post on the southwest corner would have on the board pointing west, 1400 W. Colorado, and on the one pointing south, 601 S. Central Ave. Then if a stranger was hunting 1606 W. Colorado the boards would show him that he should go west from that corner. If he was hunting 303 S. Central Ave. the boards would show him he should go north. Thus at any corner by noting the numbers on the boards and seeing in which direction they increased, he could tell infallibly how he should direct his steps to find any desired number.

NEW JERSEY PEOPLE, NOTICE

Sunday, March 17, is States Day at Trinity Auditorium. It is desired that New Jersey have a splendid representation at both the morning and evening services. Robert Taylor of this city, who is president of the New Jersey Society of Los Angeles county, requests that all people living in this community who are from that state make an effort to attend one or both of these services.

5000 NURSES

Surgeon General Gorgas, of the United States Army, has called upon the American Red Cross to supply to the Army Nurse Corps 5,000 nurses between now and June 1. These nurses are needed for service in military hospitals both in this country and abroad. Although the Red Cross has already supplied nearly seven thousand nurses as a reserve for the Army and Navy Nurse Corps since the beginning of the war, the imperative need for a greater army of nurses grows daily as the war progresses.

According to a statement made by Surgeon General Gorgas, it is estimated that there are between eighty and ninety thousand registered nurses in the United States, and that approximately thirty thousand will be needed for service in Army hospitals during the present year. The immediate need for 5,000 of these is emphasized.

CONSERVATION DEPARTMENT

The Conservation Department of the Red Cross, which has quarters on Broadway opposite the fire house, and which is making garments for French and Belgian children, needs chairs and tables, also trunks or chests in which to store things.

It has also reached a point where it needs more workers, women who can plan and cut garments from odds and ends of material.

The ladies who are working in this department want the public to understand that any material which any one has which can be made over, they will be glad to receive. They would of course prefer to have it come to them clean, but are asking to have it sent any way, and they will attend to the rest.

The department has been in existence only a short time, but it has already accumulated a trunkful of garments which will soon be sent forward.

CASES DISMISSED

After due consideration Judge Lowe decided that Douglas Fairbank's laudable effort to keep an appointment with the Red Cross Chapter of Pasadena was a sufficient excuse for exceeding the speed limit in driving his auto on Colorado boulevard, and so dismissed the case against him, developing out of his arrest by a Glendale police officer last week.

He took the same course in the case of a secret service officer of the Federal Government who was arrested while speeding in the discharge of his duty to overtake a man wanted by the government, who had been seen in a telephone booth in Pasadena. The officer admitted the fracture of traffic laws, but assured the Judge he would have been going at the rate of 100 miles per hour had his machine been equal to that speed, as it was urgent that he should catch his much-wanted man. He furnished proof satisfactory to the Judge that he was a government agent, and was sent forward on his mission.

Always bear in mind that there are in this world many men of many minds. Do not wonder at eccentric opinions.

Personals

Miss Emilie Stauffer, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis at Thornycroft, has so far recovered as to be able to leave the hospital and is now at the home of her sister, Mrs. Taylor, 1547 Ivy street.

Pythian Sisters held their regular meeting Friday night. It was also their sixth anniversary, which was celebrated by an extra infusion of good fellowship into the social hour which followed the regular work. Two new members were enrolled.

Mrs. George H. Rowe, Mrs. Eugene Smith and Mrs. J. W. Andrea were luncheon guests on Friday of Mrs. W. L. Andrews of 1552 Pioneer drive. It was a very informal, quiet affair, as all the ladies are devoted Red Cross workers and are not wasting time on superfluities.

The H. & A. Stationery Store at 324 South Brand boulevard has secured the contract for furnishing stationery and paper supplies to the Glendale schools. The order aggregates more than $1000. The securing of this order reflects much credit upon the managers of this enterprising place of business.

Mr. Julius Kranz, the violinist and composer, and Mr. Walter F. Richardson of Glendale have collaborated in writing a patriotic song, Mr. Kranz writing the music and Mr. Richardson the words. The song is entitled, "Just Leave it to Your Uncle Sam," and gives promise of becoming quite popular. It is now being published and will be on the market shortly.

Do not forget next Monday afternoon is the date of the "St. Patrick's Tea" in the former "Ginger Tavern." A special program of Irish songs and dances in national costume will be presented by Mrs. Nanno Woods and her two young daughters. All proceeds to help swell the Wool Fund just started by the British Ambulance Society. Only 15 cents for a dainty tea and a delightful entertainment.

Mrs. Nanno Woods reports that she is finding a very gratifying demand for her war poems, which she is selling in pamphlet form, the returns going to the Red Cross. When she disposes of them at a P.-T. A. meeting they go to the Junior Auxiliary of that school. She is not particular where the funds land if the Red Cross gets them in the end. She will read some of the poems at the tea which will be served by ladies of the British Ambulance Society next Monday at the Tavern on Brand and Glendale avenue. Also her daughters, Dorothy and Kathleen Woods, will contribute to the program.

A pretty dinner party in which the table was centered with calendulas and all the pretty extra touches which make the board festive were in yellow, was given by Mrs. Colin Cable Thursday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bosserman and Mrs. Freeland of La Porte, Indiana. Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy Bosserman and their two sons, Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Ashton of Tucson, Mrs. J. H. Emerson and Miss Frances Klippel of Los Angeles. The evening was devoted to music and conversation.

A. E. Eckelbarger, who has just purchased the grocery business of Fred Fishel at 242 Verdugo road, is a newcomer, from Goshen, Indiana. He has been in California but one month, but in that time has discovered the part of the country that looks best to him and established himself in a mercantile way with a promptness which promises well for his success. He is delighted with his new environment and very glad to get away from the cold of Indiana. Joe Smith will be associated with him as delivery clerk. Mr. and Mrs. Eckelbarger were favorably disposed towards California by the representations of a relative, Mrs. Hummins, a former resident of Los Angeles but recently from Tacoma. She has been their guest the past week and with her husband is arranging to return to Los Angeles to live.

SOCIAL AND DANCE

The residents of Glendale are earnestly requested to give the social and dance at the Elks' hall tonight their full support. This is being held under the auspices of Ladies of Red Cross in an endeavor to raise money for the Red Cross cause, which Glendale so badly needs. Music to be furnished by Smabee's orchestra, of Los Angeles, and those not desiring to dance may play cards if they wish. Refreshments will also be served to those wishing them.

Come one, come all, and do what you can to help a worthy cause. Tickets are one dollar a couple.

The University of Paris is preparing a special course for Americans to learn the language, literature, art, and history of France, according to the United States bureau of Education. No diploma will be given, as it is merely intended to meet the immediate needs of American students.

P.-T. A. MEETING

The meeting of the Colorado boulevard P.-T. A., which was postponed last Thursday week on account of the inclement weather, was held Friday, March 7th. The Junior Red Cross blanket on display was greatly admired by all. The committee on ambulance pillow work reported 112 children working 279 hours and 40 minutes in four weeks. The children are greatly interested in their work and a plea was made to the fathers and mothers to help the Junior Red Cross salvage collectors in all possible ways. The fourth grade teacher, Mrs. Robinson, won the picture vote for next month.

After the business session, Mrs. Nichols gave a short talk on conservation of old material and had on display a number of garments to show the splendid results of such. This is one splendid piece of work and should be entered into by all with great enthusiasm.

Mrs. Danford, our worthy librarian, made a beautiful talk on service. If more could receive the same inspiration and conception of service, we would be "soldiers" in our own little sphere and give our service freely and fully. Mrs. Danford also asked for a donation of old books for the soldier boys to be placed in the camp libraries, and will see that all such donations reach their destination. Prof. Howe presented another kind of service, "Thrift Stamps," and being a person of enthusiasm, was full to overflowing with his subject, and brought to mind many of the horrors that the "foe that knows no honor" are practicing, showing the great need and good that this kind of service will do. He also presented pledges for same, which were graciously responded to. The last speaker, Mrs. Charles H. Toll, being short of time, could not present her message, which disappointed us very much, but we hope to hear her in the near future. However, she spoke a few words, which are always appreciated from so prominent a person.

HONORING SOLDIERS

One of the most enjoyed parties of the season was given Tuesday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gilman of 1415 West Seventh street in Odd Fellows Hall. It was given in honor of the boys who recently enlisted from this district under the call for chauffeurs in the Aviation Corps, especially Irving Brooks, Lee Killion and Arthur M. Westerfield of Lankershim. The evening was devoted to dancing and cards and a supper was served at its close in the banquet hall. The guest list included:

From Lankershim: Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brooks, Irving Brooks, Lee Killion, Mr. Westerfield, Henry Taylor, Joe Brooks, Carl Brooks, Miss Anna Brecktel, Mrs. Wheat, Miss Mildred Brooks, Miss Marvell Spencer.

From Glendale: Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hurst, Mr. and Mrs. Davidson, Mr. Nadden, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Appenfelder, Miss Merva Scott, Mr. Listner, Mr. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. C. Gilman, Nash and Ralph Gilman.

From Los Angeles: Mr. and Mrs. Roy Flemming, Mr. and Mrs. Record, Mr. and Mrs. F. Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Barnett, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Hawkensen, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Arbogast, Mr. and Mrs. Bacon, Mr. and Mrs. Applegate, Mr. and Mrs. Swenney, Mr. and Mrs. W. Beck, Mr. and Mrs. Gentry, Mr. and Mrs. M. Beck, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Bayley, Mr. and Mrs. Friedenberg, Mrs. M. Rey, Miss Hess, Miss McKelligan, Miss P. Meyers, Miss Russey, Mr. Voght, Otto Soto, Arthur McLaughlin, Mr. Cornwell, Mr. Loretz, Mr. Holloway and J. Maxwell.

BIDS WANTED FOR AUTOMOBILE

The City of Glendale will receive bids to sell to the municipality a five or seven passenger automobile, to be filed with the City Clerk up to 7:30 p. m. Thursday, March 21st, 1918.

to report," is the usual beginning of a letter of declination of an application for life insurance. About one-tenth of all cases submitted to old-line companies are rejected for physical reasons, although many of these would have been O. K.'d earlier, and may be accepted later. I don't believe one man in a hundred goes to the doctor for examination without fear that something wrong may be discovered. This fear keeps many men from applying, and they delay it for weeks and months, all the time giving something else as an excuse for the delay. Be a man. Secure ample protection for your family and yourself, if you can get it. If you are declined, it will cause you to take steps to put yourself in better physical condition, if possible. Talk to me about it.

THE RALLY OF GLENDALE SUBDISTRICT EPWORTH LEAGUE

Held at Tropico M. E. church Friday evening, March 15, was a "chop suey" of delight and interest. The program started with everyone getting acquainted in a unique way, followed by novel representations of the work which each department is responsible for. The First Department had "Miss Epworth League" on trial for having broken the pledge: the Second gave, in living moving pictures, bedtime stories of a Mexican family in Los Angeles, and of a girls' school in China; the Third gave a little skit showing how a discouraged, disappointed student volunteer found her social service work to do at home; the Fourth gave in pantomime the "usual social" and the model social evening.

Other interesting features of the evening aided in generating a supply of enthusiasm to start the Leaguers out in their preparations for the big Convention of all the Epworth Leagues of the Pasadena District, which extends from Glendale to Los Vegas, Nevada. The convention held at Alhambra in 1916 had 650 delegates; at Pomona in 1917, 767 delegates. Glendale expects 1000 or 1200 May 10, 11, 12, 1918.

PACIFIC AVENUE P.-T. A.

Just picture Thursday, March 14th, an ideal spring day, with many of its devotees wending their way toward the Pacific avenue school to witness one of the most amusing, interesting and beneficial programs ever given in the history of the Parent-Teacher Association.

Commencing with the "Star-Spangled Banner," which always has a tendency to arouse enthusiasm, Mrs. A. S. Chase then led in the "Salute to the Flag."

Now we all know that during the last few years the people of this country have been taught economy from almost every standpoint, taught to save in every conceivable way in the home and outside of the home, but it remained for Prof. R. D. White and Prof. H. L. Howe to demonstrate the possibility of saving time as one of the foremost ways in helping to win the war by making every minute worth its weight in gold. Eliminating all unnecessary talk, they drive straight to the very heart of their subject, making it clear to each one present that to become a member of the Thrift Stamp Society is a great privilege and not a sacrifice. Never before had we listened to a more straightforward talk and had our selfish desires so completely exposed and destroyed through an appeal to our sense of justice and the love we owe our less fortunate brothers and sisters of the world. For after all we are just one big family struggling for a contented mind.

Prof. Howe, boyish in his eagerness to give a right understanding of this worthy cause, seemed at times possessed with an almost overwhelming sense of responsibility and determination. At the conclusion of his talk, Prof. White took the floor and in a very pleasant, convincing way cleared any cloud of doubt that might be lingering near as to the obligations imposed though one's signature being placed on the pledge.

The success of this Thrift campaign was unanimous, Mrs. Stone being kept busy selling stamps and urging all present to buy their future stamps from the school.

Rev. W. E. Edmonds, the principal speaker of the afternoon, carried his listeners along the same line of thought, but broadened into many channels. He took the "Home Ideals" as the foundation for his subject, classifying the words cooperation, order and save into their military meaning, imparting a wonderful knowledge of how the careful application of these words can first be instilled into the mind of the child at home and pointing out how the seed once properly sown will develop into a better disciplined generation.

Having just arrived from a tour of the East and with many discoveries still fresh in his memory from constant investigation, Rev. Edmonds had at his command a constant outpour of interesting daily occurrences to relate.

The Tuesday Afternoon Glee Club, composed of Mesdames H. Greenwalt, C. Hutton, A. Barton, R. Puffer, Geo. Herald, F. Buchanan, under the direction of Mrs. Calvin Whiting, sang several selections full of touching melody. Mrs. Whiting uses great care in selecting songs suitable to the occasion, giving each member abundant opportunity to display her talent.

Mrs. A. B. Rosencrans, with her sister Mrs. J. F. Hearnshaw as the able accompanist, also sang in a most impressive manner, her tones displaying sympathy and warmth.

Each one responding to their turn on the program was greeted with hearty applause and the sentiment of all present can best be explained in the words of the president, Mrs. Minnette Sherman, as the meeting closed, "We all have a great deal to be thankful for this day."

MRS. DAN H. JOHNSON.

closely about the center-pole. Thus all domestic conditions within were open to sunshine and observation of passers-by.

"Some were reading, others writing letters, some reading letters—presumably more than the first time—a number sewing buttons on or making other repairs, but all were cheerful and willing to converse with me. It was a day to make anyone happy, though far from home.

"At the Y. M. C. A. headquarters large numbers were writing letters, and there was a liberal supply of magazines, papers, and a very substantial library of books, and they were being used appreciatively.

"It not being the hours for drilling, those grounds, which I should here locate as being in the rear of the officers' tents, were being used for a number of base ball games. Others were playing a ball game over a net stretched much higher than a tennis net. This ball they batted back and forth with their fists. I do not know the name of the game.

"Some were playing football, and still others pitching horseshoes. And every game had its full quota of spectators.

"I saw four bands with their bandmasters evidently instructing or drilling them.

"They were all in the open, yet comfortably seated in camp chairs. Just as I wrote the last, I thought how necessary it was that I mention 'camp' chairs, otherwise you might have thought they had parlor chairs.

"The bands especially had large audiences.

"Another features was hundreds of the boys were riding horseback. Not so much for their benefit as to exercise the cavalry horses.

"And wheresoe'er one went, in the city, along the way, or at the camp, were soldier boys. Plenty for the bands, plenty for the games, large audiences for all. You saw them in groups of twos or threes or sixes along the roads, wandering through the woods, coming into camp from a stroll, and carrying a little bunch of cotton stems with the cotton still in the bolls, perchance to send back home in Vermont to mother, sister, or somebody's sister, who never saw cotton.

"Should stop to explain that last fall an early freeze killed much cotton before the bolls matured, but the continued drying and freezing of the winter has opened them up, displaying an inferior grade of cotton.

"Soldier boys by the thousands and thousands, and yet all through the camp in the tents were other thousands whom you did not see with the groups.

"Many at Camp No. 4 were expecting that most any day there was to be a change. This they judged because some of their officers had been detached for France.

"No lack of enthusiasm in the games or bands or whatever they were doing; neither was there any boisterous, rough-house temper.

"Was in the mess kitchens where cooks were preparing evening meal, and at the bugle call at 5:30 they filed in for the eats. Each had his knife, fork, spoon and aluminum dish with cover and long handle, and cup holding about 1½ pints. The cover could be folded back upon the handle and held in one hand, thus making two dishes available for food. They came in regular file at side of mess near kitchen, where they were served, much the same as cafeteria style, only all had the same food, and in such quantity as desired, then proceeded to long tables, where they ate. Afterwards, leaving mess house by another door, any scraps of food they put in a barrel, and then washed dishes while fresh and easy.

"At what is called the 'canteen,' in reality a store, they can buy soft drinks, candies and tobacco. Liquor is not permitted in the camps nor in the towns is it permitted to sell liquor to a soldier. A very large per cent of them smoke.

Not being there at drill hours I did not see that, neither did I see any sample trenches as we did at Fort Sheridan in Chicago. This seemed to be more of an insight into their domestic life and recreation.

"In one tent I say a boy from Kentucky, one from Pennsylvania and a third from Missouri. The latter was hoping they would not be ordered to move until after the 15th, when he was to be married. So they do not forget the sentimental side of life, even in camp.

"In talking with them about going to France, all were anxious to be on the way. Though they fully realized that not all would return, they were strongly patriotic and felt that the struggle must be settled and that they were the ones to do it. In remarking to one the general contentment that prevailed, he said, "We are taught to provide our own amusement in the army, and not to expect things just as they are at home, and always to realize that conditions are not as bad as for some others.

"Not only from this visit but from observations of the many thousands of soldiers I have seen the past year, all the way from Mexico to Newport News, I am convinced the army is not a bad place and the general manners are superior to some political gatherings I have seen. The Y. M. C. A. headquarters are appreciated greatly, judging from the number about there.

"In today's paper I notice that General Pershing asks for the assignment of three chaplains to each regiment instead of one. This, in connection with the Y. M. C. A. feature, has good motives and desires to help the boys in their natural tendency to be good men as well as efficient soldiers. H. MONTAGUE PORTER."

RED CROSS JOTTINGS

Work at the Red Cross workroom on Brand boulevard has settled down to regular, humdrum industry. Every day groups of women are there who take their places quietly and get to work without delay or confusion. You do not see the same faces every day. They have their "days" and they are living up to their undertakings in a systematic but unobtrusive way which commands admiration and heartens one to believe that success is sure to come to a people who give themselves to a cause as our men and women are doing. There is not much in the work line that men too old for military service can do except in food production, and that duty ought to make a strong appeal to every man who has ever seen a spade and hoe manipulated. The fact that he could buy cheaper than he could grow them himself is not the point to be considered. "Production" is the idea, and the more self-sustaining each household becomes, the more surplus there will be for drying and canning.

Ladies in the Surgical Dressings department made a very satisfactory output, 400 4x4 sponges and 2400 sponges tied in bundles of 25. Mrs. Edgar Pack was the instructor, and women who worked were Miss Mary Blackburn, Mesdames A. L. Lawshe, C. L. Peckham, E. W. Towle, C. Vern Horner, C. L. Bullard, H. M. Oswald, J. F. Lilly and W. R. Cleveland.

ACACIA MOTHERS' CLUB

The Mothers' Club of the Acacia street school held a highly satisfactory meeting Friday afternoon, the program being preceded by light refreshments and followed by a business session.

Mrs. Danford, the City Librarian, gave a characteristic talk on library work, and Miss Wetherby, Director of Music in the Grammar Schools, sang. Superintendent of Schools Richardson D. White presented the Thrift Stamp proposition, setting forth in a convincing way the patriotic duty of every citizen to encourage this method of helping our government to win the war, and organized in the Club a Thrift Society.

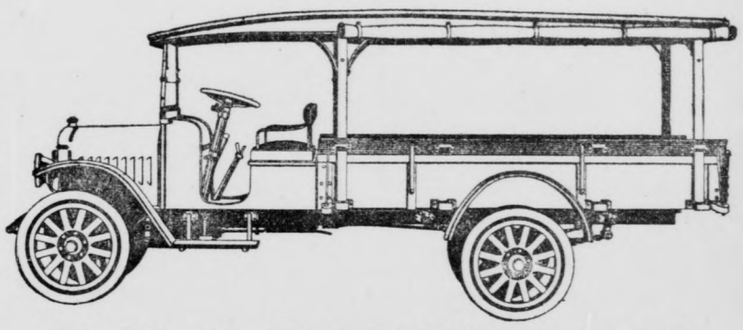
99.6% Perfect is the Service Records' Verdict on the 6600 Maxwell trucks now in use



MAXWELL TRUCK

99.6% is a figure that no vehicle of the day has surpassed. It is based on what the 6600 Maxwell trucks have done.

Think what it means—6600 trucks travelling over every known kind of road in and about 500 cities. And yet of all this number the service records show 99.6% perfect.

Quantity production has brought the price down within the reach of everyone—$400 less than any other truck of similar capacity in the world.
